PRESIDENT TAFT PLANS FOR THE WINNING OF THE WEST

Confers With Political Advisors Before Starting Speechmaking Tour.

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 7.—There was a constant stream of callers at the White House today. The most of them were close political associates of the President and they dropped in at the executive offices to talk over matters in connection with Mr. Taft's western trip. In his speeches to be delivered in Toledo tomorrow night and in Chicago the following day the President will make the first public utterances to be heard from him since Colonel Roosevelt made his formal announcement as a candidate for the presidential nomination. As a consequence the political and business circles and all factions are looking forward to the speech with eager anticipation.

Although no announcement has been made of subjects for the President's speeches, it is regarded as almost certain that he will make clear his own views on many of the issues advocated by Colonel Roosevelt in his speech in Columbus two weeks ago. A reply to the whole speech of Colonel Roosevelt is not looked for, but it is the general opinion here that the President's views in regard to the recall of court decisions will be made unmistakably plain to the people before Mr. Taft leaves Chicago for home next Saturday night.

The speech in Toledo tomorrow night is to be delivered at a meeting under the auspices of the Commerce Club of that city. This fact has led to the conclusion here that the President will avoid discussing big issues of a purely political nature in his Toledo address, as it has been his custom in the past to avoid politics and make questions of direct interest to the business community the subject of his remarks when speaking before a commercial body.

The program prepared for the Chicago visit will afford abundant opportunity for the President to speak his mind freely on any subject that he cares to discuss. His principal speeches in the western metropolises will be made before organizations of a political character, one of them to consider the subject of the Union League Club and the other at a banquet of the Illinois Swedish-American Republican League. In Chicago also the President will be in the center of what is regarded as the hottest of Roosevelt's political enemies, the head-quarters are in Chicago and it is from there that the Roosevelt propaganda is being sent throughout the West.

Wright-Metzler Co.

To do something better than even our friends expect of us is setting about as high a standard as we know. We have tried to do this (and we ask you to judge) in presenting Thursday

A March Exhibit And Sale of Silks

In these days when, owing to the peculiar trade conditions, there are great quantities both of good silks and of poor silks to be bought below the regular rating, there are just three things we should like our customers to keep in mind as regards the Wright-Metzler silk exhibit and sale.

FIRST—That the high quality of the merchandise has been our first and our last consideration.

SECOND—That the valuations throughout are conservative.

THIRD—That the variety is very large.

Now for the Silks Themselves

There are hundreds of yards of the freshest, prettiest foulards—some water-spot proof and all with such refined designs and at such small prices that they are one of the most important features of the sale.

Then comes the fancy silks—1000 yards in one group alone and the price is only 35¢ a yard. Probably the greatest collection we have are silks around the dollar mark—more, we expect, than in all Connelville stores combined. There are heavy quality messalines, chiffon taffetas, striped surah silks, tub silks, striped taffetas, changeable taffetas—all at $1 a yard. Dotted silks and silks with peculiar spots, broken lines and brocade effects at $1.50 a yard.

CAPTAIN W. J. DARK IS A LIVE WIRE IN BASKETBALL

Coker Leader Regarded as One of the Best—Old in Service; Young in Years.

Coming down the home stretch of the "Stories of the Cokers" W. J. Dark, the plucky forward and captain of the Coker basketball team, has been made and the architect and contractor will be chosen the last of this week or the first of next. Local concerns will be chosen in each case. Manager Wilson inspected the field yesterday. The grandstand and bleachers will have a capacity of 2,000 people.

The general plan of the field this year will be different. Heretofore the home plate has been situated at the northeast corner of the park. The field running towards the Baltimore & Ohio tracks. According to the manager's plan, the home plate this year will be located at the southeast corner of the field and will run toward the coke ovens. The distance from the grandstand to the center field fence will be 400 feet. A nine foot fence will be built. Just where the bleachers will be placed has not been decided.

As yet Manager Wilson has not definitely stated anyone. The National Association has not rendered a decision in the Stouvenburg case and until this is done, none of the clubs could hold players. If the players have been lined up, however, and they will be sent contracts as soon as the case is decided. The Connellsville manager was talking to President Travis and the executive thinks Secretary Farrell of the National Association will make a decision before the end of this week.

Word was received that the Little League club of the New York State League would turn over to the Coker management three pitchers. Arrangements have been made with Frank Koller, Pittsburgh agent for the Philadelphia National League club to turn over several young players to the Cokers. Sixteen men will report here April 20. On May 15 this number will be cut to 12, the league limit. The Cokers will not be bothered with excess baggage to start with. Any local players who feel sure of their ability will be given tryouts. Bill Sheets will try for a pitcher's berth and Getzels of the Leislering club will try for third base. Kid Dark will be a candidate for third base, also.

Over 100 applications have been received from players. Five came in yesterday, all from first basemen. On May 3 and 4 an exhibition game will be played with the Pittsburgh College. On May 11 and 12 the Home-Steak Independent will be played. Allen Whipple, a well known baseball man of Pittsburgh, has been engaged by Manager Wilson to look after the financial interests of the club.

STEEL BILL IS NEARING A VOTE

Hearings Before Senate Finance Committee Closed Yesterday.

MR. PENROSE MAKES STATEMENT

Inclined to Believe the Bill Will Pass Both Houses and Bees Only Hope in President Taft's Veto to Avert a Calamity to the Wage Earners.

Special to The Courier. WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.—The Underwood iron and steel tariff bill will be reported to the Senate by the Finance Committee next week, with a recommendation to pass it, after paying it will be a report stating why the committee makes an adverse recommendation and why it does not offer a substitute, the principal grounds for this course being, that the metal industry has not yet been investigated by the Tariff Board.

A meeting of the Finance Committee will be held on Tuesday, when the chairman, Senator Penrose, expects that an adverse report will be ordered. Hearings on the bill were concluded yesterday. With the close of these hearings came a shower of petitions from workmen begging the committee to defeat the bill. These petitions were from the following: Three hundred employees of the Pullman Brothers, Pullman, Pa.; makers of the 189 employees of the McCaughey Iron Company of Wilmington, Del.; manufacturers of sheet iron, 200 employees of the Parkersburg Iron and Steel Company of Parkersburg, W. Va.; 170 employees of the Berger Manufacturing Company, Canton, Ohio; 175 employees of the Stark Rolling Mill Company, Canton, O.; 415 employees of the West Penn Steel Company, Blacksville, Pa.; 400 employees of the Youngstown Iron and Steel Company, Youngstown, O.; 225 employees of the N. & O. Steel Company, Cumberland, Md.; 175 members of the Chain Makers' Union and Amalgamated Association, Columbus, Ohio. These petitions voiced the sentiments of the workmen with respect to the bill in no uncertain terms.

In discussing the closing of the hearings Senator Penrose said yesterday: "Hearings on the metal tariff bill closed today after the Finance Committee had heard witnesses for nearly five weeks. Not the least interesting feature of these hearings, was the appearance of representatives of workmen and officers of the labor organizations in the various branches of the metal industry. Their appearance proved that the workmen are alive to the situation and realize that the doctrine of protection is primarily of wages."

"The universal testimony of these men was that wages in the metal industry of America have risen from 25 to 40 per cent higher than in England, Germany, France and Belgium. The evidence also disclosed the fact that many of the metal industries of England and Germany employ a much larger proportion of women and children than in this country, and that largely prevail in foreign countries. This latter is work done by men, women and children at home. It was also brought out that the standard of living and the comforts of the workmen are much inferior abroad than here and that the hours of labor are considerably longer."

"In addition to these workmen who appeared, the committee is in receipt of a great number of petitions signed by employees protesting against the passage of the bill. If the metal bill passed by the Democratic House of Representatives should become a law, two results will follow, according to all the testimony. Wages will be reduced and production curtailed, or else establishments will be closed altogether and their employees thrown upon the general labor market. To bring down still further the rate of wages. Wide-spread misery and poverty resulted from the passage of the Wilson bill during the closing years of Cleveland's administration. The industry of this country would be increased tenfold if the Underwood bill should become a law, because the country is much larger and the toll of wage earners vastly increased."

"As there is only a nominal majority of four or five in the Senate it is to be assumed that all the tariff bills will pass both branches of Congress and the only hope to avert a calamity to the wage earners of the country is the veto of President Taft."

Company D will play Company E of Mt. Pleasant at the Army Day night. The High School girls' team was scheduled to play a team from Uniontown but the game was cancelled on account of the Army game. High school will play at Scottdale Saturday night.

I. M. Jones, president of the Uniontown club, who sometimes writes the periodical basketball stories of the News Standard, blames it all on Alton for the defeat at Connellsville Tuesday night. Next to him, Jones, who did not work this year, Alton is the best referee in the league and the most impartial. Visiting teams get a better show with Alton than from any other official that has worked this year. Jones and Alton are notorious "home" officials, while Coach Lucka experiences in the cage. That gag about the referee robbing a team is no more. Jones ought to spend as much time making his team play the game. As a championship contended it has been very puny.

"Bought and paid for" is what Uniontown thought about the pennant when the McKeesport team was purchased. Pitty Alton Goringher had to spend it. Suppose Uniontown will invest in the Jaws next.

Visiting teams get a better show with Alton than from any other official that has worked this year. Jones and Alton are notorious "home" officials, while Coach Lucka experiences in the cage. That gag about the referee robbing a team is no more. Jones ought to spend as much time making his team play the game. As a championship contended it has been very puny.

"Bought and paid for" is what Uniontown thought about the pennant when the McKeesport team was purchased. Pitty Alton Goringher had to spend it. Suppose Uniontown will invest in the Jaws next.

Company D will play Company E of Mt. Pleasant at the Army Day night. The High School girls' team was scheduled to play a team from Uniontown but the game was cancelled on account of the Army game. High school will play at Scottdale Saturday night.

I. M. Jones, president of the Uniontown club, who sometimes writes the periodical basketball stories of the News Standard, blames it all on Alton for the defeat at Connellsville Tuesday night. Next to him, Jones, who did not work this year, Alton is the best referee in the league and the most impartial. If I Had Eczema

It simply was it away with that soothing liquid, D. D. D. Prescription. The very first drops instantly stop that awful itch. A 25 cent trial bottle will prove it.

We cannot absolutely guarantee a cure every time but we do say this: If the first regular size $1.00 bottle does not do exactly as we say it will not cost you a cent. Better try a bottle at once on our personal guarantee.

PUTS AN END TO INDIGESTION AND A SOUR, GASSY, UPSET STOMACH

A Little Diapiesin Relieves Bad Stomachs in Five Minutes.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapiesin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Diapiesin. Then you will readily see why it makes indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such ailments as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common, every-day cures advertised that they have almost made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe there is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or a Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is what you eat does not digest, instead it ferments and turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison which purely in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapiesin.

WALL PAPER

Influence of Decoration on Health

If it is true that greater regard and attention to home decoration with pleasurable or prejudicial influence, comfort and health when the bodily health is good and the nerves are strong and vigorous, the effect on those suffering from bodily or mental ill health and fatigue ought to be seriously considered.

In the selection of Wall Paper and in the arrangement of all ornaments in wall decoration it is important not to select any with too distinct and too strongly colored patterns in which the ornament stands out and repeats itself in endless multiplication and monotony. All such patterns are a source of annoyance and materially add to discomfort and nervous irritability. One of the most successful methods of wall treatment consists of a ground work of suitably colored fabric effects in soft tones and Tiffany blended tones. Afterward being overlaid with a decoration printed especially to be used with the ground work in colors to bring out and enrich the whole general treatment. Individualize your rooms, it costs no more. Many beautiful illustrations can be seen if you will call at my display room and ask to see them.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD EARNED 8.22% FOR STOCK

This Is Titled on $45,850,560 Stock,
But on an Average Amount Out
8.62% Was Earned

The 1911 annual report of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is a better exhibit than had been expected. Although net earnings after taxes dicreased by $2,052,798 from the $37,- 960,546 reported in 1910 a reduction of $1,328,638 in charges and rentals enabled the company to show practically the same share balance as in 1910.

For 1911 this balance was $37,315,- 771, or the equivalent of 8.22% on the $45,850,560 stock outstanding at the close of the year. The average amount of stock out during the year, however, was but $42,511,000 so that the real share earnings were equal to 8.92%. This compares with a decrease of $2,969,885, or 3% Net
8.15% on the $412,610,700 stock outstanding December 31, 1910.

Pennsylvania's gross for the year amounted to $167,187,112, as against $160,547,208 in previous twelve months.

a decrease of $2,969,885, or 3% Net
was helped materially by reduced maintenance, the total upkeep of $48,- 933,255 comparing with $51,460,477, a reduction of $2,426,222 or 4.7%.

Transportation traffic and general expenses increased $942,937 so that net before taxes lost $1,385,650, $14,250,019 matching $48,644,660.

In charges of $15,815,865 Pennsylvania is soon consuming the lowest percentage of total net for that purpose in many years. The ratio is 29.7%, as compared with 31.4% in 1910, 39.1% in 1909 and 42.7% in 1908. This reflects the company's policy of financing through stock rather than bonds.

Excluding $14,650,146 representing cost of materials and supplies on hand the company had working assets on December 31 of $81,428,177, while working liabilities, including accrued obligations not due, totaled $32,- 587,749, so that net liquid balance was $48,839,000 approximately. The cash on hand at the end of the year amounted to $51,070,339, an increase of $18,721,390. This increase was derived from proceeds from new stock issued during the year.

THE PRODIGAL JUDGE

By VAUGHAN KESTER
ILLUSTRATIONS BY D. MERVILLE

CHAPTER XXI.

The Judge meets the situation. The Judge and Mr. Mahaffy's celebration of the former's rehabilitation credit had occupied the bank of the evening, the small hours of the night, each that part of the succeeding day which the southwest described as soon as the morning. The Judge, in which were gathered the spoils of the highly confidential but entirely misleading conversation which the Judge had held with Mr. Peglos after his return from Belle Plain, lost in weight, it might have been observed that he and Mr. Mahaffy seemed to gain in that nice sense of equity which should form the basis of all human relations. The Judge watched Mr. Mahaffy, and Mr. Mahaffy watched the Judge, each trustfully placing the regulation of his private conduct in the hands of his friend, as the one most likely to be affected by the rectitude of his acts.

Probably so extensive a consumption of Mr. Peglos's corn whiskey had never been accomplished with greater high-mindedness. They honorably split the last glass, the Judge scoring to get up any technical claim to it as his exclusive property; then he stared at Mahaffy, while Mahaffy, dark-visaged and forbidding, stared back at him.

The Judge, sighed deeply. He took up the jug and inverted it. A stray drop or so fell languidly into his glass. "Try squeezing it, Price," said Mahaffy.

The Judge shook the jug, it gave forth an empty sound, and he sighed again; he attempted to peer into it, closing one watery eye as he tilted it toward the light.

"I wonder no Yankee has ever

"Try squeezing it, Price," said Mahaffy.

thought to invent a jug with a glass bottom," he observed.

"What for?" asked Mahaffy.

"You astonish me, Solomon," exclaimed the Judge, "coming as you do from that section which invented the wooden nutmeg, and an eight-day clock that has been known to run as much as four or five hours at a stretch. I am aware the Yankees are an ingenious people; I wonder none of 'em ever thought of a jug with a glass bottom, so that when a body holds it up to the light he can see at a glance whether it is empty or not. Do you reckon Peglos has sufficient confidence to fill the jug again for us?"

But Mahaffy's expression indicated no great confidence in Mr. Peglos's confidence.

"Credit," began the Judge, "is proverbially shy; still it may sometimes be increased, like the muscles of the body and the mental faculties, by judicious use. I've always regarded Peglos as a cheap mind. I hope I have done him an injustice." He put on his hat, and tucking the jug under his arm went from the house.

Ten or fifteen minutes elapsed. Mahaffy considered this a good sign; it didn't take long to say no, he reflected. Another ten or fifteen elapsed. Mahaffy lost heart. Then there came a hasty step beyond the door, it was thrown violently open, and the Judge precipitated himself into the room. A glance showed Mahaffy that he was laboring under intense excitement.

"Solomon, I bring shocking news. God knows what the next few hours may reveal!" cried the Judge, mopping his brow. "Miss Malroy has disappeared from Belle Plain, and Hannah has gone with her!"

"Where have they gone?" asked Mahaffy, and his long jaw dropped.

"Would to God I had an answer ready for that question, Solomon!" answered the Judge, with a melancholy shake of the head. He gazed down on his friend with an air of large tolerance. "I am going to Belle Plain, but you are too drunk. Sleep it off, Solomon, and join me when your brain is clear and your legs steady."

Mahaffy jerked out an oath, and lifting himself off his chair, stood erect. He snatched up his hat. "Stuff your pistols into your pockets, and come on, Price!" he said, and stalked toward the door.

He lifted up the street, and the Judge puffed and panted in his wake. They gained the edge of the village without speech.

"There is mystery and rascality here!" said the Judge.

"What do you know, Price, and where did you hear this?" Mahaffy shot the question back over his shoulder.

"At Peglos's; the Belle Plain overseer had just fetched the news into town."

Again they were silent, all their energies being absorbed by the physical exertion they were making. The road danced before their burning eyes, it seemed to be uncoiling itself serpent-wise with hideous undulations. Mr. Mahaffy was conscious that the Judge, of whom he caught a blurred vision now at his right side, now at his left, was laboring painfully in the heat and dust, the breath whistling from between his parched lips.

"You're just ripe for apoplexy, Price!" he snarled, moderating his pace.

"Go on," said the Judge, with stolid resolution.

Two miles out of the village they came to a roadside spring, here they paused for an instant. Mahaffy scooped up handfuls of the clear water and sucked it greedily. The Judge dropped on his stomach and buried his face in the tiny pool, gulping up great thirsty swallows. After a long breathless instant he stood erect, with drops of moisture clinging to his nose and eyebrows. Mahaffy was a dozen paces down the road, hurrying forward again with relentless vigor. The Judge shuffled after him. The tracks they left in the dust crossed and recrossed the road, but presently the slanting lines of their advance straightened, the Judge gained and held a fixed place at Mahaffy's right, a step or so in the rear. His opulent fancy began to deal with the situation.

"If anything happens to the child, the man responsible for it would bet for never been born—I'll pursue him with undiminished energy from this moment forth!" he panted.

"What could happen to him, Price?" asked Mahaffy.

"God knows, poor little lad!"

"Will you shut up!" cried Mahaffy savagely.

"Solomon!"

"Why do you go building on that idea? Why should any one harm him—what earthly purpose?"

"I tell you, Solomon, we are the pivotal point in a vast circle of crime. This is a blow at me—this is revenge, sir, neither more nor less! They have struck at me through the boy, it is as plain as day."

"What did the overseer say?"

"Just that they found Miss Malroy gone from Belle Plain this morning, and the boy with her."

"This is like you, Price! How do you know they haven't spent the night at some neighbor's?"

"The nearest neighbor is five or six miles distant. Miss Malroy and Hannah were seen along about dusk in the grounds at Belle Plain; do you mean to tell me you consider it likely that they set out on foot at that hour, and without a word to any one, to make a visit?" inquired the Judge, but Mahaffy did not contend for this point.

"What are you going to do first, Price?"

"Have a look over the grounds, and talk with the slaves."

"Where's the brother—wasn't he at Belle Plain last night?"

"He seems he went to Memphis yesterday."

They plodded forward in silence; now and again they were passed by some man on horseback whose destination was the same as their own, and then at last they caught sight of Belle Plain in its grove of trees.

CHAPTER XXII.

The Judge Takes Charge.

All work on the plantation had stopped, and the hundreds of slaves—men, women and children—were gathered about the house. Among these moved the members of the dominant race. The Judge would have attached himself to the first group, but he heard a whispered question, and the answer.

"Miss Malroy's lawyer."

Clearly it was not for him to mix with those outsiders, these curiosity seekers. He crossed the lawn to the house, and mounted the steps. In the doorway was big Steve, while groups of men stood about in the hall, the hum of busy purposeless talk pervading the place. The Judge frowned. This was all wrong.

"Has Mr. Ware returned from Memphis?" he asked of Steve.

"No, sah; not yet."

"Then show me into the library," said the Judge with bland authority, surrendering his hat to the butler.

"Come along, Mahaffy!" he added

The First Inventions

were made to serve Necessity—to enable folks to keep alive—weapons, for example, and the canoe of hollowed log.

After awhile life became easily safe, and then appeared the problem of making it enjoyable—worth while.

Variations on the primitive pleasure of food and drink soon suggested themselves to the fertile human mind, and one of the results was BEER. They made it so long ago that nobody knows how long. It pleased mankind—then and now—for reasons:

It is both food and drink. The life essence of the vital barley is presented as a delicious beverage—almost immediately assimilative. It gives an immediate pleasure and a permanent benefit.

It is our purpose to make the best beer in the world.

We know how. We have the facilities and the result is

They entered the library, and the Judge motioned Steve to close the door. Now, boy, you'll kindly ask those people to withdraw—you may say it is Judge Price's orders. Allow no one to enter the house unless they have business with me, or as I send for them—you understand? After you have cleared the house, you may bring me a denotation of corn whiskey—stop a bit—you may ask the sheriff to stop here."

"Yes, sah." And Steve withdrew.

The Judge drew an easy-chair up to the fluted desk that stood in the center of the room, and seated himself.

"Are you going to make this the excuse for another drunk, Price? If so, I feel the greatest contempt for you," said Mahaffy sternly.

The Judge winced at this.

"You have made a regrettable choice of words, Solomon," he urged gently.

"Where's your feeling for the boy?"

"Here," said the Judge, with an eloquent gesture, resting his hand on his heart.

If you let whiskey alone, I'll believe you, otherwise what I have said must stand."

The door opened, and the sheriff slouched into the room. He was chewing a long wheat straw, and his whole appearance was one of troubled weakness.

"Morning," he said briefly.

"Sit down, sheriff," and the Judge indicated a meek seat for the official in a distant corner. Have you learned anything?" he asked.

The sheriff shook his head.

"What you turning all these neighbors out of doors for?" he questioned.

"We don't want people trucking in and out the house, sheriff. Important evidence may be destroyed. I propose examining the slaves first—does that meet with your approval?"

"Oh, I've talked with them; they don't know nothing," said the sheriff. "No one don't know nothing."

"Please God, we may yet put our fingers on some villain who does," said the Judge.

Outside it was noised about that Judge Price had taken matters in hand—he was the old fellow who had been warned to keep his mouth shut, and who had never stopped talking since. A crowd collected beyond the library windows and peered at the eyes on the back of this hero's bald head.

To Be Continued.

AT THE THEATRE.

THE SOISSON.

"LITTLE MISS KUT-UP," the thrillingly delightful, success of the musical stage, has been the rage of New York and the east for months and which will be presented at the Sols on the theatre Friday and Saturday, March 8 and 9, indicates the possibility of creating a wild sensation.

All that stirs the material soul to admiration sympathy and wonder, is contained in this merry musical whirl of dancing and music that has no claim to naïveté but entertainment for the time being, music, dancing, beauty, cool, and life, these are the qualities that go to make Little Miss Kut-up the remarkable success it is.

Miss Elsie Myne.

"BABY MINE"

The international comedy success, "Baby Mine," after a solid year's run at Daly's theatre New York city, will be presented by William A. Brady Ltd. at the Solson Tuesday March 12 and it is safe to predict the production one of the best things of the current season. "Baby Mine" is the funniest play ever produced on the American stage. All cities agree on it being an extremely clever comedy containing good healthy laughter from start to finish. There is not a tragic moment, not one thing to make you feel the pulse of an uncomfortable baby mine. In the work of Margaret Mayo, Dace, is the foundation of the plot but even that subject is treated in jocular fashion. Never has Margaret Mayo done better work. Her cleverness in the matter of stage technique will be recalled by theatre-goers who saw "Baby Mine" in the circus. But "Baby Mine" excels it in every way. It is now playing to capacity audiences at St. Tyndham's Critteron theatre, London, and is in preparation.

In Paris, Vienna, Berlin, St. Petersburg and Australia.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT MAKES REPLY TO SECRETARY OF WAR

Says He Is in Present Campaign for Same Reason He Was in Governor's Fight

United Press Telegram

MINEOLA, L. I., March 6.—Replying to Secretary of War Stimson's statement that those who had forced him into the room against his better judgment were jumping instead of helping, real progressive policies, Colonel Roosevelt said today:

"The statement is correct only in a sense that it would be correct to make the same statement as to my advocacy of Mr. Stimson for Governor in 1910. In that contest as in this I was exceedingly reluctant to be drawn into the fight. In that contest, as in this, I acted only from a sense of duty to the people as a whole and I was as guided by the same arguments by a great majority of those who now assail me.

The Colonel then settled himself to read until his name should be drawn from the wheel for jury service.

Checking Accounts No. 8

Bookkeeping

When you have a checking account the bookkeeping the bank does for you, without any charge whatever, is a great service.

It practically does the accounting and auditing of your receipts and disbursements when you pay by check. It balances your account every month, ordinarily or you can have your account balanced oftener if you wish. It preserves your paid checks carefully and returns them to you with an exact statement of the condition of your account. There are people who maintain no other cash account than the one that is kept for them, gratis, by the bank. People not in business can have all the record they need of their financial transactions by simply opening a checking account and making all payments by check.

We cordially invite you to open a checking account and let us help you with your bookkeeping.

Next Week We Will Tell You About the General Advantages of Having a Checking Account.

RECOVERING FROM OPERATION

Mrs. Julia Johnson, Aged 72 Years,
Had 630 Gallstones Removed, Street
Lights Used for Operation in Private House—Other Notes of News.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, March 7.—The Building Committee of the Y. M. C. A. have approved the plans of Shattuck & Hussey of Chicago, and the work of excavating for the foundation of the new building will start as soon as the frost is out of the ground. The meeting of the Building Committee was held on Tuesday evening and the revised plans thoroughly discussed. The building will be one of the finest of its kind in every respect to be found anywhere in the State. It will include a swimming pool, bowling alley, a large auditorium, 24 dormitory rooms, a large gymnasium, and every convenience for the men and boys of this locality. The building will be of brick and the plans show it to be a very handsome one, inside and out.

IS KIDNEY LICKING
The stitches were removed from the incision made at the operation ten days ago on Mrs. Julia Johnson, widow of the late William Johnson, by her physician, Dr. J. P. Strickler yesterday. Mrs. Johnson is recovering nicely although 72 years of age from an operation at which 630 gallstones were removed. The operation was by Drs. L. T. Gilbert, W. H. Foster and A. W. and J. P. Strickler. The West Penn Electric Company ignored prominently in the operation which of necessity was performed in the evening and at the home of the patient's son, W. L. Johnson. From across the street Superintendent J. S. Johnston ran in wires and placed three powerful Tungsten lamps in the room, which gave the surgeons a splendid light. Without this light the operation could not have been so well performed, if at all.

METSGAR FUNERAL
The body of George Metzgar, who died a week ago in California, arrived in Scottdale yesterday and was taken to the home of the mother Mrs. Nancy Metzgar, near town. The funeral will be from there on Friday morning at a LIVE MEETING.
The Wednesday night meeting at the First Methodist Episcopal church was well attended, and Rev. H. S. Piper preached one of his best sermons. He announced that since he had changed his schedule a number had asked that he preach on "A Soul Beyond Its Depth, or the Impardon-

Unexpected Sale of Rugs

It begins Thursday, March the 7th, in the Sixth Floor Carpet Room. You must make your choice before closing time Saturday because these prices will not be maintained after three days.

Unexpected

because a mill set its looms working on a costly contract for rugs of another sort. The syndicate, in which we hold membership, took over the whole spring output and 250 rugs of various sorts were our share of the purchase. The cost figured lower than actual production charges. The rugs came to us after our regular spring line was bought and we kept them to sell to you for less than a wholesale house could pay. They are standard, full-price rugs, in color, worth and newness.

9x12 Seamless Empire Rugs $9.75

—is one of the big features of this remarkable sale. The 116 which we have for the sale represent a purchase apart from the others. Duplicates of all the patterns will be on the floor when the sale starts and 75 are enroute. They, also, were secured through the syndicate—a positive guarantee of their genuine worth. 9x12 seamless Empire rugs are worth every cent of $15 and $9.75 is a price a notch higher than wholesale.

8.3x10.6 Seamless Empire Rugs, worth conservatively $12.50 $9.00

9x12 heavy ten wire Tapestry Rugs, worth $18.00, for $13.45

9x12 Axminster Rugs, worth $20 and $22.50 for $16.45

9x12 Axminster Rugs, highest quality, $25 value $18.75

9x12 Best Body Brussels Rugs, worth $25 $18.75

9x12 Matting Rugs, woven pattern, $3.75; printed design $2.95

Some Rugs Are Priced Less Than Wholesale—Others Near

The best proof is in comparison at other stores. The $8.50 and $9.75 rugs, 9x12 size, are of a quality that can't be manufactured cheap enough to sell at those prices. They justify every word of praise we give them—and more. There's not a rug in this sale, matting rugs excepted, that could be sold for the prices we quote if they had been bought through regular channels. For all that the good quality is in them—fully guaranteed. They have weight; the colors can be secured; the patterns stand out with the distinctiveness of very high priced rugs; yarns are vegetable-dyed; there are no defects and the sizes are accurately stated. Any dealer would pay these prices and snap up the rugs as a bargain. An installment house would charge just double—and get it; a catalogue house would have a price more than double and its glowing descriptions would scarcely be exaggerated. Cover your rooms with them and your home will be bright and cheerful for years to come.

Prices Were Never So Low

$2.50 and $3.00 Axminster Rugs, 27x54 in. $1.95
$3.75 and $4.00 Axminster Rugs, 36x72 in. $2.95
$1.50 Axminster Mats, size 22 1/2 x 36 inches, $1.15
$1.25 Axminster Mats, size 18x36 inches, 90c

These rugs are first quality in every respect and most of them match the room-size Axminsters. The colors are fast, the patterns distinct and pleasing.

All rugs on sale are standard quality, full-price, new 1912 goods. The patterns are in floral, oriental, medallion and small, neat figured designs. The colors are green, tan and red tastefully blended and accurately woven into the different patterns. This is not a sale of cheap rugs. Besides the money-in-the-pocket saving is a saving in the long service given because of the thorough making of each rug. Come! All you who want good rugs; prices will never be lower.

Unusual Prices on Rugs Larger Than 9x12 Size

Rarely are rugs priced thus even in a "sale." These were included in the syndicate buy and the prices we paid permits unusually low prices to you. All rugs perfect, new, and in desirable patterns and colors.
